

Master Sergeant Antonio Giuliano (Tenor) received his musical education from Pensacola Junior College and the College of Music at Loyola University in New Orleans. He has appeared in opera, concerts and recitals throughout the United States and Europe. As a member of The United States Army Chorus since 1988, MSG Giuliano has represented his country as a soloist and performed for heads of state. kings and queens, and presidents worldwide. He served as soloist at the funeral services for President Ronald Reagan singing an A Cappella rendition of Amazing Grace, President Reagan's favorite hymn. During his Italian recital debut at the Villa D'Este in Como, Italy, he was invited to study with the late great post-war Italian Tenor Franco Corelli in his home in Milan. Recent vocal recitals include: Brunswick Community College Recital Series South Port, NC, Renwick Gallery at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., Steinway Series at the American Art Museum Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. Past orchestral engagements include: Verdi's Messa da Requiem and Puccini's Messa di Gloria with the New Dominion Chorale, Petite Messe Solennelle by Rossini with Opera Bel Canto of Washington, Händel's Messiah and Bach's Cantata BWV 140, "Wachet auf, ruft uns die Stimme," with the McLean Symphony, SHYLOCK, OP. 57 by Fauré for Orchestra and Tenor with The National Gallery of Arts Orchestra, Orff's Carmina Burana and An Evening of Italian Arias and Love Songs with the Alexandria Symphony, Verdi's Messa da Requiem with the National Cathedral Choral Society and in December 2009 he was the featured tenor soloist in the Kennedy Center Messiah Sing-Along. MSG Giuliano has sung the tenor lead in many operas such as Rodolfo in La Bohème, Il Duca di Mantova in Rigoletto, Manrico in Il Trovatore, Alfred in Die Fledermaus, Nemorino in Donizetti's L'elisir D'amore, Elvino in Bellini's La Sonnambula and Fernando in Donizetti's La Favorita. In 2004 The Washington Post praised the "fluid, clarion voice" of Antonio Giuliano in Opera Bel Canto of Washington's production of La Favorita. In New York with the National Lyric Opera, he sang the role of Il Conte D'Almaviva in Rossini's Il Barbiere di Siviglia in an East-Coast Tour of the USA. He sang the lead role of Giovanni in the European premiere of La contessa dei vampiri by American composer David Clenny, and later at the Kennedy Center and in Puerto Rico at the Conservatorio De Musica. On the concert stage, MSG Giuliano has performed recitals with piano and orchestra throughout the United States including Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center Avery Fisher Hall, and with the Paul Madore Chorale and Orchestra in Salem, Massachusetts. In the Baltimore/Washington Metropolitan area he has appeared with the Fairfax Symphony, the Arlington Symphony, the McLean Symphony, the Alexandria Symphony and the National Symphony Orchestra. His international operatic debuts include the Romanian National Opera, Bucharest where he sang Edgardo in Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor in 2002. In 1999 MSG Giuliano was featured on CBS Evening News' "Eye on America" with Dan Rather in a feature story of an opera singer in The U.S. Army. In October 2000 MSG Giuliano performed an a cappella rendition of the National Anthem on ABC's Monday Night Football, and has sung the National Anthem many times per the request of the Washington Redskins, DC United and the Washington Nationals. He has also sung the National Anthem for the United States Tennis Association's Federation Cup in Washington DC and the U.S. Open Tennis Championships in New York. In 2000 he was the featured soloist in a USO Salute to Bob Hope and Jack Valenti per the request of Secretary of Defense William Cohen. On September 17, 2003 MSG Giuliano sang the National Anthem at the National Archives for the Rededication of the "Rotunda for the Charters of Freedom" (where the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, for the first time in history, will be on permanent display for all visitors to view); President George W. Bush gave the official Address. Forthcoming 2010 engagements include: Sacred & Romantic Song Recitals with Kathryn Lewis at the piano featuring Franz Liszt's "Tre sonetti di Petrarca" at Gordon College Recital Series, Barnesville, GA. In addition to his musical talent and interests, MSG Giuliano has been and continues to be a competitive amateur drug-free bodybuilder since his early 20s, winning several titles. He continues his voice studies with Dr. Donald G. Wiggins of New York, a partnership he has maintained since 1990 and he coaches with Kathryn Lewis. He resides in the Washington D.C. area with his lovely wife, Isabella, and their German Shepherd Dog, Gucci.

Official Website: www.antoniogiuliano.com